The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou just and Holy One in whom dwelleth all perfection, we come to Thee this morning as a Nation that is conscious of the fact that we too have our faults and we pray Thee that these faults may be so impressed upon us that we may grow better by the knowledge. Let there be no Pharisaic spirit of self-laudation, veneered by very thin and imperfect pride. Grant unto us that there shall not be that cowardly spirit that is afraid to face the weaknesses that we possess, but, above all, let there not be that degeneracy in us that we shall be indifferent to the things that are for our own hurt and our own destruction. Grant then that we may at all times hear these friends and foes alike, who bring to us our faults and make us big enough and noble enough to see them and by Thy help to correct them so that we may come a little bit nearer to that standard of excellence, which Thou canst so justly require, and avoid that which in us is weak and bad and low. Where the abyss is, O Thou blessed and holy One, bridge it over, we pray Thee, with Thy royal arch of mercy, forgiveness and forbearance. Amen.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman vote on the bill?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I voted "no."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I feel that the members of this body, at least a number of them, may have voted under a misapprehension last evening. This bill does not apply to all of the boroughs in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It merely applies to those boroughs having a population of seven thousand or over. This is nothing more and nothing less than another link in the chain along with the bill we passed last evening—the State Constabulary Bill. I felt last evening that the fact that this House had reversed itself, that it was unnecessary to say anything on this question; but now I beg leave to say a word to you by way of explanation, and that is simply this: If you want this police force in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be effective, to have the desired effect in doing that which the Constitution of this State provides, namely, the protection of life, liberty and property, you must bring both ends of the police administration of the State of Pennsylvania together, and weld the links that that chain may be an unending chain. You have this same measure in your cities of the first, second and third classes, and this is only one step farther, and that is to include in the civil service boroughs having a population of more than seven thousand. The day has come when every spot, when every city, when every borough in this State should be reached by the policeman from the other district who may lay his finger upon the button and call up a uniformed, organized body of men. We have boroughs in the State of Pennsylvania where the borough council have passed an ordinance enforcing this same kind of a law, granting them the civil service, and in those cases it has worked effectively, and no doubt many of you are familiar with this fact concerning those boroughs. Now I trust that you will consider this bill in the same manner as you did the other bill last evening, because the purpose and intent of the bill is just in the same chain as your State Constabulary and your State Police bill. The government has adopted civil service, as you know, in many forms, and I see no reason why we should not pass this measure, and I trust it will meet with your favorable approval.

Mr. McKIM. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to the passage of this bill, not that I want to see the police of our boroughs in any way depreciated or their effectiveness in any way hampered, but because I believe that the provisions of this bill are not adaptable or suitable to the boroughs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to which this bill applies. This bill applies to all boroughs having a population of more than seven thousand. I come from a borough which has a population of about twelve thousand. We have in that borough about six or seven policemen. I claim that the councilmen of the borough very well understand the citizens of the borough, understand them well enough to become sufficiently well acquainted with the applicants for the position of policemen to pass upon the fitness of that policeman, and furthermore, they are responsible for the effective management of the police department. I have no quarrel with or objection to any person who wants to put the police on a civil service basis, if that basis is practical and feasible. I have no objection to this bill if it provided that no policeman should be discharged except for cause, but the appointment of a civil service commission to look after this matter—although most of the boroughs have difficulty in having enough applicants for the job—to my mind it takes the appointing power of the boroughs out of the hands of council and places it in the hands of a commission, which is no better able to pass upon the merits of the applicant than the councilmen themselves, who are the neighbors of every applicant who makes application for a job.

Mr. WILLIAM DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I will repeat my statement that I fear the gentleman has not read this bill. I do not understand to what civil service he refers. There is no body of men appointed by this bill to take this out of the hands of the borough council. The borough council have the selection here the same as heretofore. They merely have the assistance, merely have the assistance of three men to examine the applicants, but council does the appointing the same as heretofore. I do not want the impression created here that there is a civil service board asked for in this act of assembly. This bill does not ask that and there is no further salary connected with it any more than we have to-day, namely, the clerk of council. The gentleman spoke about the responsibility of the policeman. Yes, I realized the fact that there is a great responsibility upon the shoulders of the policemen of the boroughs, just the same as of any other department, either city or state police. I realize the fact further that I have known of a borough where the council met in the evening, and when the policemen to the number of eight or nine returned to go to their service in the morning, they were gently informed that their seats had been declared vacant by council the night before. Is that a fair deal? You know and I know that the responsibility is upon his shoulders, and we know also that before he is ousted from his position he should have a fair hearing, either before council or before a court, before he is dismissed, and that is all that is asked in this bill. There is no change, there is no change upon any members or any officers of the civil service that requires any expense to the borough other than merely a clerk, and that is in the control of council, wholly and solely within its control.

The SPEAKER. The House will kindly be in order as the Clerk cannot hear the responses to the call of the roll when there is confusion.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I believe the purpose of this bill is certainly a good one, but I question whether the person who drew this bill observed that this would work a hardship on certain districts. There are cities in the State of Pennsylvania that hire janitors throughout the year, and during the summer months, in which they are paying them the regular salary, they employ them for making certain repairs to the buildings, such as fixing up the grounds, repairing the cement work, doing painting and other repairs to the building, which often would amount to more than three hundred dollars. This would certainly be a hardship in districts of that kind. It happens that I come from a city that has this practice, and I believe it would work a hardship there. While the contractor would be perfectly favorable to this bill, the school district would lose by it, and lose to a large extent. I would be glad to favor this bill were it not for that feature and I believe that is a feature that should be considered, because the school districts have no other employment for these men during the summer months, for two or three months. I would like very much if the sponsor of this bill would amend it to provide for such a contingency, otherwise I would ask the members of this House to vote it down.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken,

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say just a word in explanation of this bill. Quite a number of the members have asked in regard to it. It is adding one section to the Borough Code. A new condition has arisen where in the Highway Department comes onto a borough street, and in building the primary system of highways, builds sixteen or eighteen feet under the direction of the Highway Department, that department taking it over entirely so far as the building of it is concerned. It is then found necessary, for the borough to build, if they see fit, an additional width along that street with curbing and gutters. This clause is added simply to give the borough authorities the right, with or without petitions, to supply what they think is necessary along that highway. This does not in any way conflict with the borough code. I have found no objection to it from the borough solicitors, and I have talked with a great many of them, and I hope the House will pass this amendment to the code. I have had the matter up with the Attorney General and with the Highway Department, and there seems to be no reason why this clause should not be added to the borough code.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading, be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

The SPEAKER Will the House give unanimous consent to the amendments at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be made in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The amendments consisting entirely of strike-outs, the bill is now on final passage.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, the bill now under consideration is a motor vehicle law, which I introduced at the beginning of the session at the request of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. The amendments offered tonight on this bill are not material, changing the registration fee on cars other than commercial vehicle cars from forty-five cents to forty cents. The bill originally represented a registration fee of forty cents, but certain members interested in this legislation requested a fifty-cent fee. As a compromise, it was agreed to make it forty-five cents, but the automobile clubs throughout the State protested so much against that figure that we went back to the original bill as originally drawn, providing for a registration fee of forty cents. I would like to say further, that this bill represents the best thought on the subject; however the sponsor has had very little to do with that, but the Highway Department and the Governor of this Commonwealth, with whom we have had conferences and members who were interested, and manufacturers, and users of automobiles throughout the State gave their thought to this bill. It repeals the act of 1913 and provides a general law upon the subject. Practically every question pertaining to the use of automobiles, both for pleasure cars or commercial vehicles, have been taken up and inserted in this bill, so that you have before you what is considered the best thought of every one in the State on the question of automobile legislation. I trust that it will receive the hearty support of the members of the House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask for information as to the need for this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver (Mr. Kennedy) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KENNEDY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lycoming (Mr. Harer) will proceed.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Beaver (Mr. Kennedy) as to the need for a measure of this kind.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, this bill was handed to me by the solicitor to our county commissioners, after he had had a conference with the solicitors of the county commissioners of a number of other counties. The purpose of the bill, as he explained it to me, is this: That throughout the State there are thousands of county bridges crossing small creeks and runs, and frequently, in times of freshets, the courses of those streams will be changed and diverted and the strength of the current directed against the abutment to the bridge or against the approaches, often washing out an abutment or washing out the approach; and it seems that there is no law at present which will permit the county commissioners, in the event that the course of the stream has switched on to private property, to enter upon that private property and redivert the course of the stream into the original channel. That is the only purpose or need they are seeking to cover in the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That chapter five article one section two of an act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and twelve) entitled "An Act providing a system of government for boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following clause

XLIV To make contracts or purchases in connection with proper legal requirements of the borough provided that all contracts or purchases made by any borough except contracts requiring the approval of the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania involving an expenditure of over three hundred dollars ($300.00) shall be in writing and shall not be made except with and from the lowest bidder after due public notice by the secretary published once a week for three weeks at intervals of seven days in one newspaper of the county in which such borough shall be situated and such bids shall be received opened and read in open meeting of council at a time fixed by such notice and not earlier than twenty-one days after the first publication thereof

The acceptance of bids shall only be made by public announcement at the meeting at which bids are received or at a subsequent meeting the time and place of which shall be publicly announced when bids are received If for any reason one or both of the above meetings shall not be held the same business may be transacted at subsequent meetings provided that one week's notice thereof shall be published in the newspaper aforesaid

The successful bidder shall be required to furnish a bond with sufficient surety in the amount of fifty per cent of the amount of the contract within ten days after the conract has been awarded and upon failure to furnish such bond within such time the previous award shall be void and the contract shall be awarded to the next lowest bidder subject to the same provisions and requirements as stated

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna (Mr. Jones) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JONES. Yes, sir, I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. Phillips) will proceed.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire from the sponsor of this bill whether there is any provisions in it that would prevent a borough, one of our small boroughs, from entering into a contract to do their own paving. I do not mean to enter into a contract, but to do their own paving. It says if they expend three hundred dollars or over, that it shall be let by bids.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I never heard of a borough doing any work of that kind to any great amount.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, our boroughs at the present time do their own work.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing in the bill to prevent that.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, this bill says, "involving the expenditure of over three hundred dollars" it shall be let by contract.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I don't think when they start to do a job of that kind of their own, they would be expending more than three hundred dollars at one time.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, they might spend over three thousand dollars.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, they would probably in the aggregate, but not in the beginning.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 701, entitled

An Act supplementary to an act, entitled "An Act defining the powers of the several courts of quarter sessions of the peace within this Commonwealth with reference to the care, treatment and control of dependent, neglected, incorrigible and delinquent children under the age of sixteen years and providing for the means in which such power may be exercised," approved the twenty-third day of April, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three, (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seventy-four); prohibiting magistrates, aldermen or justices of the peace from sentencing or committing for trial for any offenses dependent, neglected, incorrigible or delinquent children under the age of sixteen years and providing for the disposition of such children by the juvenile courts; providing that the jurisdiction of such courts over children committed by them shall continue notwithstanding such children may remove or be removed from the territorial limits of such courts; authorizing the said courts to commit such children in proper cases to the custody of their mothers to be maintained in their respective homes, and providing for the payment of the cost of such maintenance by the proper county; prescribing the duties of probation officers in such cases, and authorizing the several juvenile courts to employ medical experts in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware (Mr. Heyburn) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to ask the sponsor for an explanation of the purpose of this bill.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: This bill is to care for the counties that have not taken over the mothers' pension, and it in no way affects the counties that have accepted it. The counties already have the option of going into it and caring for the expense.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, it creates a new system in counties that are not now organized.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I did not quite catch that.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, in those counties that are not organized as is contemplated by the present law, it provides a new or different method for organizing.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, no.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, then what is the purpose of it?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, it is purely for the counties that adopt this to care for the pension proposition.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I cannot understand it in any other way. The counties now organized will have a different system from those to be organized. I think the present system should remain, and I am opposed to the bill.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker and fellow-members of the House: A few weeks ago we thought this bill had been put to sleep. Immediately upon its introduction a few weeks ago, many of us heard from the different boards of the mothers' pension organization throughout the State, and I want to say, fellow-members, I think that if we have any one law in the State of Pennsylvania that is working most admirably, it is this law passed in 1913 creating the mothers' pension boards throughout the State. It is one of the very best, and I sincerely hope that this House tonight will take no backward action, when we know that practically every county that has been organized is more than pleased with the work of the various boards of this State. Then again I want to assure you, fellow-members, that we have the assurance of the organization that not only are forty-two counties of this State organized, but there are several others in the course of organization today, and I have had the assurance of several officers of the organization that they believe that within the next two years every county in the State of Pennsylvania will be organized. Then why should we come here tonight, fellow-members, with a bill that leads backward rather than onward? We have a law today under which we are working and which only recently was recognized by the president of the Mothers' Congress to be one of the very best laws in any state of the nation; in fact, she told me she had received several communications from adjoining states inquiring more particularly about this law, hoping they too might organize and become more efficient along this line. So I say to you tonight, Mr. Speaker and fellow-members, one of the chief objections to the passage of this bill is the fact that deep down in the hearts and minds of these people that have been doing this work so admirably they believe that it would impede their progress in the counties that have not been organized. So I appeal to you tonight to be true to these women who have been doing this noble work, these people who know the soul and home life of the boys and girls of our Commonwealth; and I am sure you will agree with me that we will be rendering them a service tonight by voting this bill down.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I do not know whether my friend from Chester (Mr. North) understands what this bill is or not. He asks about a backward step. There are at the present time twenty-six counties in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that have not seen fit to accept the provision of the Mother's Pension Act. This bill is not opposed to the Mothers' Pension Act in the least, and since it was in committee—the gentleman from Chester (Mr. North) talks about it sleeping—since it was in committee it has been amended so that every objection that was made to this bill before the committee has been removed; every objection that was suggested to the committee has been taken out of this bill. This bill only gives to the counties that have not accepted the Mothers' Pension Act the same privilege of paying to the mother as the Mothers' Pension Act does at the present time. As I said, twenty-six counties in this Commonwealth have not accepted the Mothers' Pension Act. At the present time the counties cannot pay to the mother under any law the allowance of the delinquent, but must pay it to somebody else, and the mother does not get the benefit of that act. Now this bill provides that where there is a mothers' pension, where they have accepted the terms of the Mothers' Pension Act, in that instance the money is turned over to the trustees and is not given to the mother. I have a letter in my hand, in which someone says we want to see the mothers get this money, that is what we want where the Mothers' Pension Act has been accepted. They have asked for an appropriation from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and in the committee, at the hearing, someone who was connected with the mothers' pension trustees stated that they had a hard time to get an appropriation from the Commonwealth large enough to meet their needs. Now then, if that is true, why are they insisting at the present time that at least twenty-six more counties come in and accept the provisions of the Mothers' Pension Act and therefore require twice the size of the appropriation they otherwise would require, now, at this time, when they cannot receive from the appropriation committee of the Commonwealth sufficient at the present time. At the present time those counties that have not accepted the Mothers' Pension Act, they get that fund from their own treasury and don't ask the Commonwealth for a cent. Why should you gentlemen object, or why should those counties object to the counties like Delaware where they are paying it out of their own treasury, as Delaware County is paying it out of her own treasury, and why should you object? That is the provision of this act. It was found at the same time that some of the courts tried to do that; were trying to give to Mothers the same as the Pension Act provided, and it was found unlawful. This act was prepared by one of the grandest old men in the world, and I don't except one—by a man who knows more about the Mothers' Pension Act, and taking care of those children, and helping the mothers, than all the mothers' pension acts in the world. That is Judge Johnson, of Delaware County, who lives in it, and it is a pleasure for him to do it. This act was prepared by him and is intended that the mothers in our county and others shall have the same privilege to receive the mothers' pension as those who have accepted that act. As soon as all of those counties accept, then this act becomes co-operative and is in effect. Gentlemen, I ask you to vote for this bill.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, since my friend from Delaware County (Mr. Alexander) has made his address, I feel that I must say something at this time regarding this measure. This is the third time this bill has been up in this House in three different sessions. It was up and defeated in 1915 and in 1917, also practically the same bill. I want to say to the gentleman from Delaware County and his friends that nobody recognizes more than I do the careful preparation of this bill and the time and attention given to children by Judge Johnson, as he is an expert along this line. The reason I object to this measure is this: Under the provisions of this act, if a mother desires to have a pension given to her children, they have to go into the Juvenile Court of Delaware County to secure that pension. We believe it is far better to have it administered by the women in the various counties than to have any court proceedings in connection with it, because that carries an odium on the child, and on that account we believe that this bill is not a good bill. There are many reasons why, if Delaware County is so desirous of granting pensions to the women of Delaware County, they should not now come under the Mothers' Pension Act of Pennsylvania, —one of the best acts in this Union, and so proven. Twenty-seven counties having organized and a large number of other counties are ready to come in, and I believe that in three years from now the entire State will be organized. This bill will only hinder the present act.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, you will notice that in section 3 in all such cases "when the mothers shall make a report, etc." that has been cut out of this bill. That is the reason why this bill was defeated at the last session and that objection has been cut out of it. The gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Vickerman) says that if this bill is passed it will interfere with other counties that have not yet accepted the provisions of the Mothers' Pension Act, from accepting that measure. If twenty-six counties like this act so much better than they like the Mothers' Pension Act, then for God's sake, let us pass this act and not bother the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with the other act. But that is not true; there is nothing in that argument; it would not be many years before all of us would be in it. There is twenty-six counties of that kind, and some don't need any; fifteen don't need any Mothers' Pension Act. There is nobody to take care of them.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, (Mr. Alexander), permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if the first section of this act is not a correct copy, verbatim, of the Juvenile Court Act?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I think it is.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, is not the second section of the act an exact copy of the Juvenile Court Act?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, and the third section of the act, from line 26 to the end at the bottom of line 29, was stricken out of this act after it was prepared by Judge Johnson; is that correct?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, that is on account of one of the objections made against the measure.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, was that stricken from the act after it was prepared by Judge Johnson?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, it was, when the copy of it was made and placed before the committee.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, on page 4, beginning on line 1 and ending at the extreme bottom of the section, was that stricken from the act after it was prepared by Judge Johnson?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, for the same reason.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, so there was not very much of the old act as it was prepared by Judge Johnson?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, section 3, which gives permission to a county which has not accepted the provisions of the Mothers' Pension Act and pays the mother the same as the Mothers' Pension Act?

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask, does not your act provide that the child shall be brought into the Juvenile Court and that the Juvenile Court shall make an order of record against that child and also against the County Commissioners?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I could not hear what the gentleman said.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to inquire, don't you know that your act provides that there will be a record made of it in the Juvenile Court and that record will stand as part of the court record against that child?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I have no doubt about that, but that is nothing against the child.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that this is a good act and that it should be passed.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, where the Mothers' Pension Act is not in use, yes; because the mothers shall receive the benefit of this fund that is paid to the child. This act provides that the mother shall receive the money until the Mothers' Pension Act is accepted.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, the gentlemen from Delaware (Mr. Alexander) must understand that the Mothers' Pension Act is not administered by the Juvenile Court, and is not administered by paid probation officers, and there is no court record that can possibly be resurrected against the child who was unfortunate enough to be placed under the care of the Mothers' Pension Act.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, neither is the Mothers' Pension Act administered in twenty-six counties of this State.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, let me ask the gentleman then, is that the fault of the county?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, either the fault or their desire; I do not know which.

Mr. SIMPSON. Mr. Speaker, well, are not all of the counties in the State of Pennsylvania welcome under this act and asked to take the benefit of the act?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, a number of the counties, twenty-six of them so far, have felt that they are able to take care of their own delinquents.

Mr. SIMPSON. That is all, Mr. Speaker

Gray, Patton,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 321, entitled:

An Act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this is a charter bill for Philadelphia, as also the next bill, No. 322.

I was invited to address the Senate for one hour, which I will not do at the present time. I believe that you can never convert a man by talking over fifteen to twenty minutes. If I cannot convert the majority of the Philadelphia delegation to vote for this bill in that time I had better sit down after speaking one minute. When the Governor advised with the charter committee he used an expression that in all legislation try to let the mice go through and stop the elephants. In other words, he advised the committee not to try to reform everything in sight. Our committee has endeavored to profit by this advice of the Governor and this morning in speaking on behalf of this bill I wish to exhibit only four elephants. The first one is the subject of the small council. We have at present one hundred and forty-five in our city council, although as a matter of fact in important legislation a quorum may consist of only five members. I think it is rather a joke that the council of Philadelphia is much smaller than the one that we have proposed. In order to show you the irresponsibility of the present council I wish simply to relate an experience of my own. I offered the city a plot for a park, on condition that the city will condemn about thirty houses in this park. It was a perfectly fair proposition, and according to the story, although there were one hundred and forty five men in the city council my relations were with one man and that one man was the only man, perhaps one other, who was cognizant with this legislation. I was in the Select Council chamber when the ordinance passed and I saw a great many men vote aye on this ordinance before they could find it on the files. That ordinance cost the City of Philadelphia $172,000 in condemnations.

I merely tell my experience to show that certain large bodies are irresponsible. The subject of dual office holding is a very simple one. There are in the Select Council seventeen and in Common Council there are nine of them, men who are office holders on the city pay roll. We forbid this in the charter and we say that it is not right, because a man who is a dual office holder is bound to the politicians; and you may remember, some of you, that the Mayor, our peerless Mayor, was accused of dual office holding because when he was acquitted of complicity in the Fifth Ward murder, that he fell upon the neck of two of his councilmen, the third man escaped before that happened, and wept; so the newspapers, the following day, charged the Mayor with dual office holding, he was both Mayor and court crier.

Now the unrepresentative character of our councils; I live in a ward of ten thousand voters, but it takes fifteen of our voters to equal one voter in the Ninth Ward in Select Council. By this bill in Common Council each man represents four thousand voters, the votes do in the ward, and adding the votes together and dividing by eighteen you will find that he represents not four thousand, but two thousand or a little over, each common councilman. So much for the large council which I claim is irresponsible and has the practice of dual office holding and it is unrepresentative in character.

The next elephant I want to exhibit is the budget. The ratio of debt to the assessed value is one eighth, the same as the other large cities. On the other hand, we are living on borrowed money and have been for a good while. Our speakers have always stated that in the past seven years we have borrowed $20,000,000. Now that seemed to me like a flight of oratory, but I have had it verified. It is not $20,000,000, it is between nineteen and twenty million dollars. Allow me to read one or two items from the appendix of these thirty year bonds. This is the last appendix; itemized labor, skilled and unskilled, one hundred and thirty thousand dollars; fuel one hundred dollars; transportation of prisoners to Western Penitentiary one hundred dollars; furniture, cooking utensils fifty dollars;—"that is an item in the thirty year loan drawing four and one half per cent." Stationery, printing and office supplies one hundred dollars; towel service one hundred dollars; magazines, newspaper clippings twenty-five dollars." Our children are going to pay for that in thirty years. I will not read through all these items. "Automobile tax two dollars." Here is rather an amusing item. "Bringing back fugitive husbands, five hundred dollars." Now that is one year. There is no use arguing about the disadvantage of living on borrowed money. The next item in the budget is the removal of snow. We are obliged to do this under what is called the Budget Act. It works out in this way. The city council appropriates twenty-five to forty thousand dollars for the purpose of the removal of snow. In December last winter there was no snow, but this twenty thousand dollars is piled up for snow removal. You may find in the thirty year loan an item to buy awnings at City Hall and by the time the awnings are needed there will be a transfer ordinance unlocking the $25,000 for snow removal. These transfer ordinances are the bane of the members of the City Council. They are more numerous than the bills presented here by the Allegheny County delegation.

The third point I want to make against the budget, the present financial system is the method of fixing the tax rate. I allege that if there is one function of the Legislature it is to fix the tax rate to spend the tax-payer's money. Last summer a private citizen in Philadelphia fixed our tax rate for us at one dollar and seventy-five cents per hundred valuation. No ordinance was ever introduced into the City Council fixing the tax rate. We accepted the dictum of one man putting it at one dollar and seventy-five cents. I claim that is not representative government. I do not believe this private citizen pays as much real estate tax as I do. I pay myself thirty thousand dollars in real estate tax, my family pays seventy thousand; that is 100 thousand dollars per year. I submit therefore if one man is to fix the tax rate suppose they let me do it.

The other matter is what is called the mandamus proceedings. If I have a claim against the city or the Treasury I find that the appropriation for the mandamus is given out, so I go down to the bank or trust company and sell my claim, get the cash, cash in this mandamus claim, which will lie in the bank or trust company anywhere from six months to a year drawing six per cent. interest against the city. At the same time that bank will have a considerable deposit of the city's money drawing two and one half per cent. interest. This is done over and over again. It is so well known that I believe children are called mandamus, I don't know, but I think I have met one.

The third point I want to submit is the question of civil service. Civil service is extremely unpopular. We also know that President Garfield was killed by a disappointed office seeker, and that gave the first impetus to this country for civil service. I believe we all had our experience here. I have had mine, I now have a protege who is what is called a paster and folder. He expected to be a sergeant-at-arms and is very well qualified for it, but I was a new Senator and he was not appointed, he is a paster and folder. He met me the other day and he said he thought he was too strong a man for that position. He said he thought he would like to be an inspector of highways. I asked him what experience he had and he said he traveled the highways and he thought he knew a highway when he saw it. I said "all right, that is sufficient, come along." So I took him up to the Highway Department and to the Health Department and to the Department of Labor and Industry. Now in Philadelphia we do things differently. The mayor now appoints three commissioners of civil service. The mayor wanted to get rid of a board of recreation, so he asked the civil service commissioner to hold an examination for this new supervisor. They put out a notice that experience would be required. The mayor sent word that that was a mistake, that this man had no experience, so they changed the notice and left out the requirement of experience. There were eight candidates and the other seven all had experience and the eighth candidate had no experience and he passed one hundred. In my own experience I am a member of an association that had in this Legislature a few years ago a house inspection bill and through the very efficient aid of the late Senator McNichol we got the bill passed. That necessitated some examination, and I remember a high-brow lady who came on to take that examination and she seemed to me she was worried about it. I said "there is nothing to worry about, these Commissioners do not know a tenement house when they see it" and that I would introduce her to them and it would be all right. We went over to the Commissioners and they asked her to write some questions because they were not familiar with the subject. She wrote the questions and come back to my office and said she was told this examination was too difficult and it would have to be made easier, so she made it easier. Then she went in and took the examination and passed. And now that is the kind of civil service that we have in Philadelphia. We propose in the Charter bill to have the civil service commission elected by the City Council which is separated entirely from the Mayor.

The next subject under the civil service is to prevent the very, very common evil, which is political assessment. I have a letter from a patrolman, which I will not read to you, he states he is shy seven dollars of the fifteen dollars political assessment and he does not know where he is going to get it. The Honorable David Lane says there are 12,000 city office holders, 2,500 county office holders, and they are men most interested in this subject, and they all put up this money, because it is sort of a political insurance fund. That enables them to keep their political positions. That is absolutely frank and logical.

Now the police in politics. Every one wants to get the police out of politics, the police want to get out of politics and I do not know why they do not get out.

I would simply say that these things are civil service revisions strengthing the Shern Act and will do it if any thing can do it.

The fourth and the last elephant I am going to exhibit is the subject of contracts, and I will say nothing about garbage or ashes, because on account of the high cost of living their simply will be no garbage and because of the high cost of coal there will be no ashes, I hope. When it comes to invest in street paving I am very much interested and I have some figures here, my friend, the Senator from Chester,

I have heard say there are lies, damn lies and statistics. These statistics state it costs more under private street cleaning than by the city, it costs forty-four cents per square yard and in New York thirty cents per square yard.

We have private street cleaning, you know, and our streets are not clean. Our purpose is to try the other way, or at least give the council the option of trying the other way to clean our streets. I am not particularly interested in this street cleaning clause, because if the streets are dirty, what difference does it make whether it costs little or much? I have a great many friends who are doctors and they have to perform operations. They say the patient is dead but the operation was a great success. That is the way with our condition in Philadelphia, it makes no difference about the relative merits of the street cleaning if the streets are not clean. I am not talking about the hotel districts, but about the lower part of the city. I have been a rent collector in the various parts of Philadelphia and I know how dirty the streets are. Any doctor will tell you that there are various forms of diseases, including the dreaded pneumonia, which kills so many, and it is a medical question. I am very sorry that the Charter Bill was not sent to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, my good friend, the chairman, Senator Snyder, and myself would have gotten it out a great deal quicker. When I have the honor to go to the Governor to congratulate him on signing this Charter Bill I am going to remind him that his tonsilitis was acquired on Fiftieth street on his way to the Union League Club, from the dust. I am going to tell him I also suffered in the same way and I am going to suggest that he try to collect our doctor bills from the city by bringing suit.

I will try to finish my speech in a very few words. I wish to say a word about the committee that is backing this bill. When you were at the hearing we had on the committee seventeen bankers, three of whom are bankers of the firm of Drexel and Company, and they signed the report. I submit that these people are of the finest people in Philadelphia and they are not chronic objectors and saying everything is wrong. We also have the names of the various organizations which have indorsed the bill, which I will not bore you with, and the only thing I wish to say in conclusion is this, that the other day in the committee one of the Philadelphia members said we were very selfish about it, and he also said he did not consider himself selfish. I agree with that, but I disagree with the statement that we are all selfish. I believe you will agree with me that one of the wonders of the war was the spirit of unselfishness developed by that war. We are to have a very expensive bridge in Harrisburg, as a memorial, and monuments throughout the State. Now I am not asking for anything of that kind. What we ask for will cost not a dollar to the State. We ask you to vote today for a charter bill and we believe that if you will give us this that when you visit Philadelphia to witness the parade next week you will have the pleasure of feeling that you have given to the returning soldiers that live in Philadelphia the very finest real memorial that Philadelphia can possibly have.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I had not intended to say anything on this bill, because of the understanding that I have, that it will be corrected and made right in the committee over in the House, but that conversation that the Senator from Germantown has just given the Senate is just incorrect this far, he started off by saying that five was a quorum of the Finance Committee, which contradicts himself. He is absolutely incorrect and the rest of the statement is about on a par. He has not told you how it happened that the neighbors, where he lives, and who know him the best, voted 600 against him to keep him home and that in the outlying districts where they did not know him voted for him and that is why he is sitting here today. He has not told you that our city has 150,000,000 dollars on the good side of the ledger. There is no other city in this country has such a showing. In so far as the cleaning of the streets are concerned, that I consider a personal matter and I leave it to you men who go all over the city of Philadelphia from time to time and I want to conclude however by saying that there are just as many facts in what he has said here today as there are in that first statement which is absolutely incorrect and wrong.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, on the Finance Committee there are twenty-four members; it takes nine to make a quorum; it is possible to transact business by a vote of five, it is not probable but it is possible, because a quorum on the Finance Committee is nine. I claim to be better informed than the Senator on that question, I do not think it is worth while to answer any personal matter. I will only say that I carried my own division by 100 majority and the candidate of Senator Vare lost his division. The Senator endeavored to prevent my coming here by putting up some one of the same name; but I will not go into that.

Mr. PATTON. Mr. President, as an old councilman from Philadelphia, I desire to state that the Senator from Germantown, Mr. Woodward, as a member of council, should know, and doubtless does, that while nine members are a quorum and that five might vote aye and four no, yet at the same time thirteen members of the council must sign that report before it can be presented to Council. Now, to the contrary of that statement, I place myself before this Senate that the business of the council of Philadelphia is conducted with greater decorum and in a better sense than the business of this Senate. Every bill that comes before council must be read thoroughly from end to end, and always is. Every member knows what is in that bill and every member can govern himself accordingly. We are supposed here to read a bill at length three times on three separate days. You all know how it is done. We do not object and the bills go through without any further consideration. There are plenty of bills on that calendar that people vote for in this chamber that they have not even read. I, myself, plead guilty to that. In so far as the financial condition of the city of Philadelphia is concerned, I want to say to the gentlemen that when the Act of 1879 was passed the city of Philadelphia owed over ten million dollars; the floating warrants, which were some few, carried six per cent. interest. I want to say to him that there were sixty-one million dollars of bonded debt, together making a debt of over seventy-three million dollars. When the Act of 1879 was passed I was a member of council. I was a member of the finance committee, and I am going to show you gentlemen that that Act was absolutely carried out for years, positively and absolutely carried out for years, and the consequence was that fifteen years later, in 1894, the debt of the city of Philadelphia had been reduced to fifty-four million dollars. The floating warrants were bonded at four per cent. and paid in twenty-five years, four hundred thousand dollars a year. All of the floating warrants were cleared up and the debt of the city of Philadelphia was actually reduced twenty million dollars under the operation of the Act of 1879. Afterwards somebody discovered a scheme that, anyone thinking they wanted something in the department, they would go to the contractor who had a contract to furnish and would say: "I wish you would send us around some of this and that and the other"—that is how the deficiency bills came about that he was referring to. When coal was needed there, instead of calling councils together and passing a twelve hundred thousand dollar temporary loan bill buying the coal, they would go and get it on what was known as donation, and the agent had that coal or those parcels delivered, and they became a moral obligation of the city. It was what is known as being handed a donation, and councils themselves afterwards had to provide the money to pay those bills. That is where the deficiency comes from today. You put it into the Act of 1879, and make it a crime for any official to purchase goods in that way and you will have in the Act of 1879 a better Act than any Act that was ever had to govern the city of Philadelphia in actual business. I cannot argue on the question of budget. I have plenty of letters from people asking to give them a budget. I will guarantee they do not know more than I do about what a budget is for the demands of the city of Philadelphia. The department of the finance committees and councils signed a budget, I don't know what it is, in August of this year. The departments send to the controller their demands for the following year, the controller sends them to councils and councils say what they will give and the tax rates for the next year are fixed. The reason there was no bill for the adoption of the tax rate for this year is simply because if on the first day of December the tax rate is not altered by council the old tax rate holds. So it is in the hands of any councilman to offer a bill making it greater or less, and if council does not act on it the previous year's assessment holds and the previous year's rate holds, and the result is that out of all that money the debt of the city of Philadelphia is provided for, and if they have not provided enough they always have twelve hundred thousand which they have borrowed temporarily for four months that can be renewed at any time. The councils of the city of Philadelphia can be called together in twenty-four or forty-eight hours. Whatever money is needed can be provided. Let me say another thing to you: there are no drives in Philadelphia, there is no expensive advertising, nothing of that kind. If the city is authorized to borrow some money and the controller, the city solicitor and the mayor issue a little advertisement that the city of Philadelphia will offer at public sale at par, at not less than par, eight million dollars, ten million dollars, whatever they want, then advertise for a few days, a few weeks, I think it is in thirty days they had it, and under that bids are received; and let me say to you, they come from all over the country and there never has been one dollar borrowed by the city of Philadelphia at anything less than below par, and the last four and one-half per cent loan within the last three months was borrowed at one and two, at about two per cent. over par; and not only that, but there were bids for three and four times as much as the city asked for.

Mr. President, these are simply facts. The city of Philadelphia today owns her great parks, in her gas works, in her water plants, all of the great buildings in the city of Philadelphia, and other matter of public comfort and utilities, they belong to the city, and today they are bringing in a revenue for the city of Philadelphia. Last year we received from the U. G. I. Company nearly two million nine hundred thousand dollars, and yet in the list of assets the gas works are carried at twenty-nine million. At five per cent. they could be carried at more than that. Let me say to you every year that grows greater and I know the U. G. I. Company has spent in return to council in the first ten years, over eighteen million dollars on the gas works of the city of Philadelphia and that all comes back to the city without a dollar of debt. At the end of ten years the city receives back her gas works and in the meantime she received every dollar. The water department last year received nearly six millions of dollars and they are carried on the list at the actual cost, about sixty-nine million dollars, less the percentage taken off each year, carried on the list at cost. Our park at the price at which it was purchased, about the close of the war, is carried on the list at thirteen million of dollars, making fourteen, not over that, and to-day I will guarantee a syndicate will pay fifty million dollars for the park privilege of the City of Philadelphia alone. So that taken at those prices, what they cost, without interest to-day, the City of Philadelphia owns nearly four hundred millions of dollars of actual assets, and one hundred and sixty seven million dollars, less the sixty five hundred dollars in the sinking fund, making the debt of the city to-day about one hundred and thirty million dollars, in addition to which a large amount of money having been spent on the Delaware and on the river front and the three piers that are there. The three last piers that were built cost about three million and a half dollars. Every bit of that belongs to the city. It does not go to somebody else, but belongs to the city, and is leased by the city and it will be included in the assets of the city when finished.

That is the financial end of it in the city of Philadelphia to-day. It has the best credit of any city in the world and forty-four cities in this country and Canada have modeled after the city of Philadelphia. They have sent experts to Philadelphia to examine the books of the city. The comptroller of the City of Philadelphia has been in office twenty-five years and has some of the best accountants that could be found anywhere. There is not a politician in his office that I know. He said to me that it would be a crime to undertake to meddle with the financial condition of the city of Philadelphia and its present administration, that is, with the present law, under which it is working.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, it seems to me that to pick out the city that has the best credit—I was going to say in the world, and I guess I can say surely it has as good credit as any city in the world, and better than nine-tenths of any of the cities—to pick that out and push aside and upset its financial condition, and the financial administration would be worse than a crime. Let me tell you further that under this bill that the Senator is advocating here the city of Philadelphia will have a three dollar and a half tax rate inside of five years, because the departments are permitted by that bill to do what they want and purchase what they think they need. Under our present administration there never has been a dollar due of interest for wages, for buildings or anything of that kind. I have seen the cash ready right in the bank to meet it. I cannot for the life of me see why this should be interfered with. The question of small councils may be, according to some peoples ideas, better than a large one. I don't know, but so far as I am concerned I want to see a representative council, I want to see a man who comes from the neighborhood and knows what the people want and stands to represent them to get it. I do not want to see one dollar taken from one part of the city and spent in other parts of the city. If you take it in the way it is laid out, I represent the largest Senatorial district in the State of Pennsylvania. We have nearly four hundred thousand people living in it and we have all kinds and characters of settlements. West Philadelphia as originally constituted was a lot of small settlements like country towns, built up to one another, extends from Hog Island on the southwest a number of miles to Fairmount Park on the east, and many square miles are included in that and in the settlements along the Pennsylania railroad where railroad laborers all live and where all the rest of the Pennsylvania railroad running through my district, something like three miles, it is settled along the edges with railroad conductors, firemen, brakemen, and all that sort of thing. That is one community, and a little further south around Forty-first and Haverford depot, old Market Street railroad, a settlement of colored people extending for blocks and blocks north, and there are manufacturers and a little farther out northwest we will have Overbrook with its wealthy people living there in splendor and all that sort of thing.

Go down along the Delaware County line, I can refer to my friend, the Senator from Delaware County, all the way down that line until you get down to the southern and southwestern part of it, where you will find great numbers of people own their own properties and they are the very cream of man and womanhood of the American mechanic. On Vine street there is a great Italian settlement. You will find on the western end in the Forty-sixth, the Fortieth ward, the Thirty-fourth ward, a large number of people of the residential character; four or five thousand of them. You go east you find colored settlements and another Italian settlement. How in the name of heaven are four members of council going to represent the wants of these people? I will tell you, gentlemen, you want to be very careful when you change that, if you do change it. Do not make it into Senatorial districts, make it into some other way by which the people themselves can be served. You have added for the city of Philadelphia hundreds and thousands of dollars each year that we have got to pay in new places, new increased salaries, made by this Legislature and put upon our backs. We have to find the money. Time and time again we have refused in council because we did not feel we had the money to spend, and yet they come right here to the Legislature and get their bills through and we have, of course, to pay it. I say hundreds of thousands of dollars each year; yes, I will venture to say it is over a million dollars each year, that the city of Philadelphia is compelled to pay, matters put upon them by the Legislature of the State. I did not mean to say one word here to-day, because I understood from higher authority than any member in this chamber that these bills were to go to the House and to go to a good committee and there to be drawn into shape and gotten into such shape that they would be satisfactory to the Philadelphia delegation so far as it was possible to make it. Remember that five of the eight members from Philadelphia and thirty-eight of the Philadelphia members of the House have signed the protest against these bills. Remember you are doing something that the Philadelphia delegation, that not one of us, would think of doing with your part of the State. I want to say to you, gentlemen, you want to quit meddling with our affairs. It is time for home rule. We know what to do for ourselves. We do not buy anything that we can not pay. Tomorrow, if the city of Philadelphia advertises some large work, you will find people from Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Washington, New York, Brooklyn, all coming to the city of Philadelphia competing for that work, the last three piers built on the city front, on the Delaware river front, one for one million three hundred thousand, another one million four hundred thousand, another nine hundred and fifty thousand dollars are being built today by outside parties. Outside people come to buy our bonds, outside people bid for our contracts. What do you want to bother us for? I cannot understand it, I do not see any reason for it. I stand for Philadelphia. My grandfather came there, my great-grandfather came here before the Revolution, my grandfather, my father, myself, my sons and grandsons were all born in Philadelphia, and I love that good old city. I want to say to you no man can shake his fist under my nose when he speaks of Philadelphia. Philadelphia is the American city of this continent, and I believe, without question or doubt, that if you gentlemen would stop and think and let us mind our own bnsiness that we would all be better off. I could talk for an hour, but I am done.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President and gentlemen, as I said before, I had not intended to say a word on this bill because of the understanding that the bill would be put in proper form over in the House Committee, but I do want to remind the Senate once more of the fact that our city has at least $150,000.000 on the good side of the ledger. I want to leave the condition of the streets as to cleanliness to the Senators themselves who travel over the city of Philadelphia nearly once each week. I also want to remind the Senator from Germantown that he was whipped, without a single dollar put into his ward, for the nomination to come here by over five hundred majority in his home ward and, in as much as he has taken up the character of this committee that authorized these bills, let me read what Judge Martin of our Court of Common Pleas, has said about the business methods of the President of this Charter Revision Committee, and he is sitting right over there or I would not read this if he were not here. The John C. Winston Company employed an agent to sell books for him and then they had a dispute over the payment, and this is what Judge Martin said in the court opinion, giving judgment for the plaintiff. President Judge Martin used the following language: "The statement of claim and letters accompanying it as exhibits, the contracts agreed upon," which means the contracts agreed upon between Mr. Winston and his company and this poor man who was selling the books, "and that which was submitted subseqnently for plaintiff's signature, indicate an adroit scheme to obtain the services of plaintiff in effecting the sale of defendant's books, by holding out to him an alluring proposition which defendant apparently had no intention of fulfilling and deemed itself safe in evading." Mr. President, if a man would evade an honest obligation like that, can he be depended on to be honest other ways. Now that is the character of Mr. Winston, the head of this Charter Revision Committee. Let me read what a leading morning newspaper says about the Chairman of the Publicity Committee, Powell Evans: "Powell Evans, a loquacious, boastful, little Philadelphia reformer with political aspirations, is majority owner of an electric railway company in Schuylkill County. He put Leib on the payroll of the company as claim agent. The county boss, repnted influence with the courts and his control over the jury panel would be recommendations for a man relied upon to 'handle' accident claims against the public service corporation: a single adverse verdict, for example, might easily cost the Evans Company much more than a year's salary invested in an influential claim agent. But Evans had other uses for the powerful political leader. The company objected to assessments made for taxes, and Leib was employed to get 'adjustments.' He was so successful that between 1910, when Evans took over the company, and January 1st, 1917, the accnmulated unpaid taxes rose to $22,000." Then it goes on further "Leib reported to Evans that the accont could be closed for $17,500, payable in monthly installments. So the company gave Leib $1,000 in cash, sixteen $1000 notes and a $500 note, and rejoiced in having saved $4,500." Mr. Evans saved $4,500, as he thought, but when you read a little further yon will find he did not save anything. "As the notes came due they were paid, and in each case the company received what seemed to be a receipt showing payment of the moneys into the State Treasury." Leib said Auditor General Powell had given him power of attorney to collect taxes in Schuylkill County. "The arrangement was so pleasing to Evans that he engaged Leib to 'adjust' in like manner disputed taxes assessed against the firm of Merchants and Evans." Mr. Evans, gentlemen, is the Chairman of the Publicity Committee of this Charter Revision, that is why I am compelled to read this paper. Mr. Merchant is his father-in-law, so you see that it is a family matter. "As a fact, Auditor General Powell had given no power of attorney in the Merchants and Evans tax cases, the receipts bore the forged name of a clerk in the Auditor General's office and the cashier in the State Treasurer's office."

The fact remains, and this is in a morning newspaper of the 17th of March, that Mr. Evans, this great reformer, who wants to reform all honest Republicans in Philadelphia, and he wants to hire somebody to get him cheaper taxes from the State, that is where he lost all as he should have. That is two of them, one of them is sitting here and I regret the other one is not here. Number three is a man, I am ashamed to name him, because of his wife and family; while a good, sturdy, upstanding working man went off to fight for his country in France, for two years in the trenches the third gentleman broke up that man's home, and if it were not for the disgrace to his wife and children I would name him right here. I would not have exposed the character of these three men if Senator Woodward had not been continually boasting about them being the best people. The main body of this revision committee, gentlemen, I want to say, are of the highest type people of Philadelphia, both ladies and gentlemen, lured on by that kind of people who claim to be holier than thou all the while, and working under conditions that I have just read here from public documents. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, I hope you will pass this bill and let it go over and be settled, along with the other bills. It was not my purpose to say a single word on the bill other than to get up and make the little statement I made here the other night, that they would be all settled in the House Committee.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I am only going to talk for a few minutes. It was not my intention in the beginning to say one single word on this bill, as I understand, as Senator Vare has just said, that a vote should be taken here and the bill passed and go into the House, but I could not remain seated without just saying a word or two. I regret very much, the same as every Senator within the sound of my voice regrets, that personalities had to enter into the matter. They have absolutely nothing to do with the bill, and I disagree with the Senator from Germantown, Mr. Woodward, when he says that this bill should have been placed into another committee. It went into the committee where it belonged, into the Committee on Municipal Affairs; hearings were given on it and it was reported out, according to the chairman, irrespective of faction. I am going to play on the level, and there was nothing to hinder the bill in its course, and the only thing I want to say in addition is that it was Mr. Evans, whom I scarcely know, that, according to the public press, has recently issued a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Leib, who he must have discovered was not the kind of a man that he formerly trusted. In view of what has been said about the gentleman from Germantown, his name was brought up here that he was unable to carry a certain district in which he lived. I am one that has had experience in what an organization fight means. I have been up against it with a man and the State government against me, and, if my friend did not win in his own district, I thank God I was able to win in mine.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I do not consider that I brought personalities into this matter, or into this bill or into this controversy, until the sponsor of the bill commenced to hold up to this Senate the high type of those that brought about this bill, then I thought it was my duty to let the Senate know exactly how high a type those gentlemen are.

And the question recurring,

Mr. GRAY. Mr. President, I did not join in the discussion on the other bill. The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O, Thou inspirer and hearer of prayer, look down from Thine azure heights, we beseech Thee, upon this Nation and give unto it a living soul, sensitive to right and truth and justice and love; and O, we beseech Thee, may it never be said of us that we shall have been captured or lured by that hell-born trinity of cynicism, sordidness and ungodliness, and that it may never throttle our higher life. Above all, grant that we may never sell our soul's life, our highest interest, for a mess of material pottage; and today, as we look back four years ago, and see how a Nation did sell its soul when it sent to watery graves the untold hundreds because it had lost its highest and best life, grant that such a deed may never be recorded in our history, that no Lusitania may be pointed to with scorn and shame, and that we shall never be guilty of a crime for which a thousand years cannot atone and oblivion has no spot dark enough to hide. From such shame and horror, O merciful God, keep us forevermore. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. GOODNOUGH, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. Under the rules of the House, the Chair is given charge of the hall of the House. The Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms have not been on the job today. Today there are seven or eight of them absent, and the delay this morning has been largely due to this fact. The Chair wishes it distinctly understood that the Sergeant-at-Arms are expected to be on duty every day the Legislature is in session. The Chair will request the Chief Sergeant-at-Arms to take a poll of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, and submit the result to the Speaker. There has also been some delay at the elevators in bringing up the bills. The Chair would also direct the person in authority to have some one stationed at the elevator to see that the bills are brought up in time to be ready for the opening of the session in the morning. There will be no substitute Sergeant-at-Arms in this House. If there are any Sergeant-at-Arms who are unable to perform their duties, the Chair will be very glad to accept their resignations. The Chair would also call attention to the fact that a number of the members have told some of the Sergeant-at-Arms and Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms that they need not be present. The Chair wishes to disillusion the minds, both of the members and the Sergeant-at-Arms, on this question. They are under the direction of the officers of the House and amenable to them, and it is their duty to be here.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: The purpose of this bill is all right; but I am afraid that it will work an injustice to the treasurers of several counties. It does not affect, as far as the interest is concerned, it does not affect the county from which I come, because the treasurers of our county have for years been placing their funds in banks and have been returning the interest to the county. But you must remember that the county treasurers in all the counties of the Commonwealth are required to give bonds for the faithful keeping of those funds. Under this act of Assembly they are required to put out the funds in the different banks in the county and to put their funds in those banks which pay the highest rate of interest. Now it might be possible that the bank would not be the safest bank; and therefore your county treasurer, while under bond for the safe-keeping of the funds, is handicapped because he has to place the money in a bank which pays the best interest. Now I am only calling your attention to that so that you can see what the bill means.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. Speaker, I am a little surprised to find any opposition to this bill and I wish to say that the opposition as it is presented is not prompted by the provisions of the bill. The bill provides that where a county treasurer deposits the funds in the bank designated by himself, the county commissioners and the county controller, that he is from that time relieved from the responsibility of the funds while in those depositories. It also provides that those depositories shall give security to the county for the funds while they are in their possession. I might say that this bill has passed through a very strenuous grilling on the part of the county solicitor and other persons, and they have found no serious objection to it. I think the gentleman from Delaware has not read the bill through, else he would not claim that the county treasurer is held responsible for funds that are deposited in banks, because he is provided protection by the banks where the money is deposited.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1366, entitled

An Act amending sections one and two of an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred eighty-seven entitled "An Act providing for the appointment of the appraiser of mercantile and other licenses and authorizing and requiring the publication of the same"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Geary) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, according to the provisions of this bill, how does he determine the minority political party of the county?

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, that would be a difficult matter to answer, unless we say that under the old act the papers designated were generally the Republican papers in a Republican section and in a Democratic section, a Democratic paper.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to find out how you can tell which party is in the minority.

Mr. GEARY. The bill does not affect that part of it; that is in the old act. The only change that this bill makes is, that it gives the commissioners the right of publishing the mercantile appraisers lists in at least five papers. The old act reads "three papers." The old act is different to that extent from the new, which says that it may be published in not less than three or more than five papers.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, as I understand from the last part of section 1. "the respective county one of which shall represent the minority political party of the two principal political parties of the resepctive county."

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, that is in the other section. That does not change that section and reads there in that section as in the original, indicated in the Act of 1887.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, it does not read that way in the act as printed here.

Mr GEARY. Mr. Speaker, I think so.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaekr, I would like to ask you in regard to the provision in section 2 which provides "not exceeding thirty cents per line for four insertions." What is the idea of cutting out the maximum?

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, that is done for the reason that printing is now much less than it was at that time. In many counties the rate is one cent a word and probably they give a bulk price by bids and the rate is much less than thirty cents. The purpose of that provision is to save that amount of money for the tax payers, in cutting it down.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, it does not say that you have to charge thirty cents.

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker. At the current rate of other advertisements not exceeding thirty cents per line.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been requested to make an announcement by the chairman of the committee appointed to make arrangements for the trip to Philadelphia next Thursday. The committee has decided that the Legislature will go to Philadelphia next Thursday morning, leaving Harrisburg on a special train, at 9.00 o'clock. Transportation will be afforded for the members and the members' wives. Further announcement regarding the details of this trip will be made a little later.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been more or less undecided with regard to a recess, whether to take a recess until this evening or hold a session at 2:30 this afternoon. There will be a parade of the returning veterans of Harrisburg this afternoon sometime between 4:00 and 5:00 o'clock. The soldiers may not arrive until 5:00 o'clock. If the soldiers arrive before that time, it will be very difficult to hold the House. However, if the House is agreed, we will take a recess until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon or 8:00 o'clock this evening.

Mr. WILLIAM T. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I do not see why we cannot continue here for an hour and a half or so and finish the calendar.

(Cries of "No, no; 2:30 o'clock this afternoon").

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The Chair hears no objections.

Whereupon, (at 1:10 o'clock P. M.) the House took a recess until 2:30 o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House met at 2:30 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

NAYS—1.

Graham,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1332, entitled

An Act to increase the powers of Building and Loan Associations incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I have been asked to explain the purpose of this bill. It is proposed by Congress to start what is known as the Federal Home Loan Bank. That bank will be used, or the funds will be used, according to the proposition of Congress, to help in the building of homes. This act gives the building and loan associations of our State, if they wish, the right to take stock just as the national banks and trust companies in our State take shares of stock in the Federal Reserve Bank, and thus become members of the Federal Home Loan Bank system of this State or of the national or federal system, and this will form the national Home Loan Banking System. There is nothing compulsory about it. It only gives the building associations the right to go in if they wish. It is merely giving our associations the right to do this if they want to.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House: I am opposed to this bill. Building and loan associations from the time of their inception have invested their funds exclusively in real estate securities. I do not believe it wise to enlarge their powers and permit them to invest their money in any other form of security but real estate. That is a particular form of investment that has appealed particularly to the stockholders of building and loan associations, and they have always felt that that was the strongest point in the building and loan association system of doing business. I think it is unwise to deviate from that practice at this time, especially in connection with a bank or system of banks which is an entirely experimental stage.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: If this were buying stock in a private corporation, I would not have agreed to act as the sponsor of this bill. But I claim that it comes with very poor grace to say that a building and loan association makes a mistake in buying the securities of the United States government, and that is what the Federal Home Loan Bank offers itself to be. Would anyone today claim that a bank made a mistake by becoming a partner in the Federal Reserve Banking system? This bill gives our building and loan associations the right, if they deem it wise, to become partners in a bank or banking system which will help in the building of homes. There is no credit we know of in America that can be compared in safety with the security of a national banking system, backed up by the entire credit of the United States government; and that answer alone is sufficient to show that it is not speculation, because that which the government backs is not speculation, but is supported by the very credit we ourselves help give as a nation.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. James A. Walker).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether the stock is to be issued by the so-called Federal Home Loan Bank or whether it is to be issued by the United States government.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, the stock is issued by the Federal Home Loan Bank which has the backing of the Treasury Department of the United States government, just the same as the Federal Reserve Bank.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask whether it is issued by the directors of that bank?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, it is issued by the directors of that bank.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask whether it is issued the same as the stock as any other bank?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, it is issued the same as the national banks, and particularly the Federal Reserve Bank.

Mr. WELLS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask whether the earnings are dependent entirely upon the business done by that bank?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, in part; also by the credit of the United States government.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The bill having been called up from postponed calendar Mr. GOLDER,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of ıse Bill No. 1236, entitled n Act to amend the act approved the seventh day of May thousand nine hundred seven (Pamphlet Laws one hun- dred sixty-one) entitled "An Act regulating and defining the powers and duties of the Dental Council and the State Board of Dental Examiners providing for appointment of examiners de- fining qualifications of applicants for examination condition of granting licenses regulating and limiting the practice of dentistry prohibiting practice by or employment of unlicensed persons and providing punishment therefor and disposition of fees and fines and fixing the appropriation to the Dental Council" as amended

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend bill, page 4, lines 15, 16 17 and 18, by striking out the following: "No person shall practice dentistry or engage in the practice of dentistry under any name other than that under which his or her license to practice dentistry is granted."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be made in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The amendment consisting entirely of a strike-out, the bill is now on final passage.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House: I would ask that, as these amendments have been put in the bill, the House pass the bill today, and I am glad that the amendment in the bill provides that all dentists who graduate from reputable colleges shall sign each year a registration card. The reason I ask for this is the fact that so many men who are not graduates are practicing in offices controlled by graduate dentists, and I say that that is not right.

It is not right that a young man who has studied his profession for a number of years, even great hardship to himself and his family, and has gone to great expense for a period of four years, in order to perfect himself in the art and in science of his profession; and I would insist, as a practicing dentist, that that ought to be done. Aside from ruining any man who has been in the practice of dentistry for a number of years under the name of Boston Dental Rooms, or New York Dental Rooms, or whatever name he might use, I have no desire at this time to interfere with his carrying on of his professional work under that name. But I do insist that they be compelled each year to register with the registration board of this State. I ask the mem- bers of the House to vote "aye" on this bill as it now stands, and I will be perfectly satisfied.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Benchoff,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1402, as follows:

An Act providing for the relief of the sureties of defendants in criminal cases where indictments are not found within six months from the return of transcript to Court

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all cases of arrest of any person for any criminal offense where no indictment has been presented to the grand jury and totally or partially acted upon within six months from the date of the return of the transcript to Court the surety or sureties or bail for such person shall be relieved from further liability on their bail bond and the defendant's liability shall continue as heretofore

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, this bill as I understand it, provides that, "Where no indictment has been presented to the grand jury and totally or partially acted upon within six months from the date of the return of the transcript, etc.," in that case such man who is the surety or bail for such person "shall be relieved from further liability." That would not work satisfactorily in our county. I think six months is too short a time. When a criminal is found guilty of a crime and has put up bail one year is a short enough time to be discharged. It is often hard to get witnesses on an indictment so as to secure it within six months. So I hope that this House will kill the bill.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this Bill No. 1402, file folio 4143, be postponed for the present.

Mr. DRINKHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act the probation officers appointed by the several courts of quarter sessions of this Commonwealth in counties having a population less than one million inhabitants under the provisions of an approved the twenty-third day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred three entitled "An Act defining the powers of the several courts of quarter sessions of the peace within this Commonwealth with reference to the care treatment and control of dependent neglected incorrigible and delinquent children under the age of sixteen years and providing for the means which such power may be exercised" and the supplements thereto shall each receive a compensation not to exceed one hundred and fifty ($150.00) dollars per month

Mr. FINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair (Mr. McCurdy) will proceed.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I would like the sponsor of this bill to explain whether its provisions increase the fees of prothonotaries.

Mr. FINNEY. Mr. Speaker, it may in a few instances. As a general proposition it don't increase them very much. A few items it may increase some; some it does not.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I am not in favor of voting for a bill that specifies the fees or revises the fees of prothonotaries or any other officers that does not describe what the present fees are. We are not in a position to search all the records to find out whether this is a good bill or a bad bill to pass. If I were to vote for this bill, I would not know whether I was trying to increase the fees of the prothonotary fifty or one hundred per cent. I know that in the county that I represent the fees of the prothonotary are ample, and there is a desire on the part of many people to place the prothonotaries on a salary basis, thereby saving for the counties the exorbitant fees; and if this is a bill to increase the salary or fees, I am inclined to vote against it.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House: I am not the sponsor of this bill, but it was referred to me, as chairman of a sub-committee, for investigation, and as such sub-committee, we did make some considerable investigation of this subject, and we found that this is a very meritorious bill. It is not in the class with the ordinary fee bills which come before you, which are usually simply measures to increase the fees of certain officers. This is not such a bill. This bill is simply to modernize the fee bills of prothonotaries in counties under one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants. We found on investigation of this subject that the fee bill for prothonotaries in those counties has not been revised since 1868. The result is that the fees charged by the prothonotaries in those counties are now largely guess work for the reason that the Act of 1868 does not fit the modern law or modern practice, there being many things which the prothonotary is called upon to do which are not provided for in the Act of 1868. There is another interesting feature in connection with this bill. I find that there are two counties in the State, namely, Beaver and Washington Counties, which are now operating under a fee bill passed in 1821. The repealing clause in this bill will bring those two counties within its provisions, and make a uniform fee bill for all counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or less. Now this bill, as I say, does not materially increase the fees of those prothonotaries. It simply gives them warrant of law to collect the fees which they are now already charging. As I said before, there are many things which are not provided for in the Act of 1868, which are now taken care of in this bill, and the prothonotaries in the smaller counties, in order to determine what is a reasonable fee for those services, now turn to the fee bill applicable to larger counties and use that as a basis for their charge. I think, gentlemen, this is a very meritorious bill and should receive the support of this House.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I accept the very satisfactory explanation of the bill.

Shall the bill pass finally?

MR. JAMES A. WALKER IN THE CHAIR.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1404, entitled

An Act requiring the Fish Commissioner within one year to certify whether adequate provision has been made at the dam across the Susquehanna River at McCall's Ferry for the passage of fish and unless such certificate that said dam no longer prevents the fish from passing up said stream is filed with the Attorney General within thirteen months authorizing and directing the Attorney General to institute and prosecute quo warranto and other legal proceedings against the Pennsylvania Water and Power Company

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

SPEAKER SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I am very much in earnest as regards the purposes of this bill, and in order that the record may be straight in regard to the same, I desire to use my manuscript for the purpose.

In 1913, I introduced a Joint Resolution for the purpose of compelling the Penna. Water and Power Company to construct a fishway at the McCall's Ferry Dam. This company has failed to perform this work. Under the provisions of said Act, the Commissioner of Fisheries was required to furnish said company with plans for the construction of a fishway. Mr. Buller prepared plans for the fishway, the same being drawn up in accordance with the plans. The plans of the Commissioner were totally and utterly inadequate in every sense of the word. The construction and completion thereof was suspended. Since that time, the company has practically done nothing. In 1917, I introduced a resolution calling upon the Fish Commissioner to explain why the fishway had not been constructed. In a three-page report, printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal of 1917, Page 4961, Mr. Buller practically states he is unequal to the task. On Page 4963, he states:

"This Department is glad to receive suggestions, and the Penna. Water and Power Company is ready, at any time, to take up the matter with any one who can show a satisfactory fishway, and the company would reimburse the parties, should the fishway, after practical demonstration prove satisfactory."

In the same report, Mr. Buller incorporates a letter of the Attorney General in reply to one of mine. In this letter, Attorney General Brown states as follows:

"The decree of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County which permitted the construction of this dam provided that same shall be 'subject to its making and maintaining adequate provision for the passage of fish.' If ultimately, it be found that there is no practical fishway, the Commonwealth of Penna., acting through the Attorney General, must determine what action should be taken in the premises, but in view of the fact that millions of dollars have been spent in the construction of the plant, including the building of the dam, under color of the decree of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, I am of the opinion that every reasonable opportunity should be given to the company to consider and perfect a fishway, before considering the question of the failure of 'making and maintaining adequate provision for the passage of fish,' as provided in the decree of the Court."

I shall demonstrate later on in my argument, that the company did not construct this dam in pursuance the decree of the Dauphin County Court, or any Court. In another section of his report, Mr. Buller states:

"The situation on the Susquehanna River does not call for the formation of definite recommendations by the Bureau. Were any recommendations required, it would be that the Necessity of a fishway should be ascertained more definitely than it is at present. In determining upon the necessity of a practical step, it is always right to weigh the benefits to be gained against the sacrifices involved in securing them. This applies to public as well as to private matters,"

In other words, it is inferred that if the Company is not put to too much trouble or expense, we might just as well forget about the fishing rights of the people, and any and all other rights that people in the Susquehanna River have.

Now as to the rights of the Commonwealth, it shall be my purpose to show that the Pennsylvania Water & Power Company and its predecessor, never possessed or acquired any rights in the Susquehanna River, that they are trespassers upon the said river from the beginning, that they have brazenly confiscated the property of the sovereign State of Pennsylvania and they have defied the said sovereign State and are withholding from our people rights that they have wrongfully taken. The Act of June 19, 1871, Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred sixty, provides as follows:

"In all proceedings in courts of law or equity of this Commonwealth, in which it is alleged that the private rights of individuals, or the rights or franchises of other corporations are injured or invaded by any corporation claiming to have a right or franchise to do the act from which such injury results, it shall be the duty of the Court in which such proceedings are had, to examine, inquire and ascertain whether such corporation does in fact possess the right or franchise to do the act from which such alleged injury to private rights, or to the rights and franchises of other corporations results; and if such rights or franchises have not been conferred upon such corporation, such courts, if exercising equitable power, shall by injunction at suit of the private parties or other corporations, restrain such injurious acts; and if the proceedings be at law for damages, it shall be lawful therein to recover damages for such injury as in other cases."

It is right, therefore, to inquire whether this Company does possess rights or franchises, or did possess, to do the acts that it has done resulting in the injury to the people.

Section 5, of the Act of June 13, 1883, provides as follows:

"That any corporation of the second class, that shall not within two years from the date of its letters patent proceed in good faith to organize and do the things contemplated by its Charter, and have paid up at least one-fourth of its capital, and the Attorney General shall take the proper legal steps to forfeit and vacate its Charter."

Sect. 2, of the Act of May 16, P. L. 241, provides as follows:

"If any company incorporated under this act, or any of its supplements, shall not proceed in good faith to carry on its work and construct or acquire its necessary buildings, etc., within the space of two years from the date of its letters patent, and shall not within the space of five years thereafter complete the same, the rights and privileges thereby granted to said corporation shall revert to the Commonwealth."

The Penna. Water & Power Co. derived all of its rights, title, and interests through the Susquehanna Water & Power Co. and the Hillside Water & Power Co., both of which were chartered in 1902. The company failed to comply with the law relative to the beginning and completion of said work as required by law, which is a violation of its charter rights, and as a matter of fact, is illegally constituted at this time. Its functions, powers, and rights, as well as its charter having become void as a result of the failure to comply with the law of the Commonwealth relative to the completion of the work under the corporation law of the State.

RIGHTS OF STATE IN SUSQUEHANNA RIVER.

"The bed and waters of the Susquehanna River belong to the Commonwealth. Even between the high and low water mark. The riparian owner cannot occupy to the prejudice of navigation, or place obstructions on the shore, without the express authority from the State."

Wainwright v. McCullough, 63 Pa., 66.
South West Penna. Pipe Lines v. Sand Co. 43, Superior Court 524.

Act of March 9, 1771, 1 Sm. Laws 324, provides as follows:

"An Act declaring the River Susquehanna and other streams therein mentioned, public highways for improving the navigation of the said river and streams and preserving the fish in the same.

'Whereas it is of importance to the trade and commerce of the province that such rivers and other streams, as are or may be made navigable, be at all times preserved and kept from all manner of obstructions. And whereas the improving the navigation of the Rivers Susquehanna, Conesto, will greatly conduce to the benefit of the inhabitants residing on and near the said rivers and the province in general.

'Therefore, Be it enacted that the said River Susquehanna, as far down as Wrights Ferry (from the Maryland line upwards, etc.) shall be and they are hereby declared to be public streams and highways for the purpose of navigation to the passage of his Majesty's liege subjects up and down the same, erected or hereafter to be erected, shall be deemed, held, and adjudged common nuisances.'

That the river Susquehanna shall be deemed and taken to be a public highway in all parts thereof, within this State, from the division line of the State of Maryland and this State, upwards to the Town of Northumberland in the County of Northumberland and thence by and along each of the two great branches of the same River, which meet at the said town, in and throughout the whole length and breadth of the same river, etc."

Section 4, Act of March 31, 1785, 2 Sm: L. 312.
The Act of Feb. 19, 1801, Ch. 2175, Vol. 3, Smith v. Reed Laws 462, provides as follows:

"Sec. v. And be further enacted by the authority aforesaid that the River Susquehanna down to the Maryland line, shall be, and the same is hereby declared to be a public highway, any act or law of the Commonwealth, to the contrary notwithstanding; and it shall and may be lawful to construct a canal, etc. along said River.

"Neither William Penn, his successors, or the Commonwealth have given any land grants for the bed of the Susquehanna River south of Sunbury. Judge Woodward in Barclay Railroad and Coal Co. vs. Ingham 36 Pa. 194 says: "In respect to the great rivers of the State, such are navigable by nature, and therefore public highways by the common law it has been repeatedly declared, that the Mill Dam Act of March 23, 1803 is but a license to the riparian owner, subject to be revoked whenever the interests of the public require it. This doctrine was applied in the Monongahela Navigation Company v. Coons 6 W. & S. 112, to the Youghiogeny, which is one of the streams enumerated by Chief Justice Tilghman in Shrunk v. The Schuylkill Navigation Company 14 S. & R. 79, as among the "principal rivers" of Pennsylvania. And again in the Susquehanna River, which as well as its principal branches, has always been considered a public river. In all these cases, the right claimed by the riparian owner was a permissive right to use rivers, the soil of which had never been granted either by William Penn, his successors, or the Commonwealth, and constituted part of the eminent domain. Private surveys bounding on them were stopped at low water mark. When the Commonwealth, by its Legislature, authorized riparian owners along such streams to erect dams for their own convenience, and profit, it was a sort of public license to trespass on the public domain without any consideration thereof, it has none of the indefeasibility of a contract, and might be revoked at the will of the sovereign or be granted to another." No person was ever authorized to build dams for any other purpose than those described in the Mill Dam Act of 1803, with the exception, of course, of small dams which the Legislature, permitted to be constructed for sanitary purposes at Harrisburg or Williamsport."

In the Monongahela Navigation Co. vs. Coons, it was held that the State has never presumed to have parted with one of its franchises in the absence of conclusive proof of such an intention.

The Mill Dam Act of March 23, 1803, 4 Smith Laws 20, provides as follows:

"All and every person or persons owning lands adjoining any navigable stream of water, declared by law a public highway, except the Rivers Delaware, Lehigh, and Schuylkill are hereby authorized to erect a dam or dams for a mill or mills or other water-works upon any such stream of water, adjoining their own lands, and to keep the same in good repair, and also to lead off thereby, on his or their own land, so much of the water of such streams as may be necessary for his or their mill or mills, or other water-works; Provided, That the said person or persons, his or their heirs and assigns, in erecting the said dam or dams, or keeping them in repair, shall not abstruct or impede the navigation of such stream, or prevent the fish from passing up the same; and Provided, also, That the person or persons so erecting said dam or dams shall not infringe on or injure the rights and privileges of the owner or possessor of any private property on such streams.

"The Mill Dam Act of 1803, restricts the use to 'so much of the water of such stream as may be necessary, etc.' It was never intended that one riparian owner should use all the water of a great river and extend its operations over 9 miles of a river. The Penna. Water & Power Co. sends 90 per cent. of its curent to Maryland, where it is used. A corporation can not acquire an act of eminent domain without the approval of the Commonwealth."

Illegal Dams.

"A dam which materially interferes with navigation or passage of fish, is within the prohibition of the Act of 1803.

Com. v. Erie & North East R. R. 27 Pa. 356;
Bacon v. Arthur, 4 Watts 437.
So are bars created by the erection of a dam.
Bacon v. Arthur, 4 Watts 437."

The Act of March 28, 1905, P. L. 67, which was repealed by the Act of May 3, 1909, P. L. 413, had in it Sec. 3 in the same langauge * * * * *

"These acts apply to the Susquehanna River. The Act of March 28, 1905, P. L. 67, was passed before the merger of the two companies and the law has remained the same ever since. There has never been a grant of any lands in the bed of the Susquehanna River south of Sunbury, and this act effectually prevents any from being issued in the future. The Act was in force at the time the McCall's Ferry Power Co. commenced the erection of the power house, dam and other structure in the River, and at the time the Dauphin County decree was entered."

The Dauphin County Decree.

It may be noted here that this decree does not permit the erection or maintainance of the 500-foot power house in the river, the rock fill, deflection walls, forebay, construction bridges, tail race, or transmission lines, towers, etc. The Mill Dam Act of 1803, which is the only act permitting the erection of dams in the Susquehanna river prohibits the erection of a dam so high that it interferes with navigation, the passage of fish or infringes upon the rights of individuals.

If the decree was intended to give more rights and privileges than the statute, the decree is in conflict with the statute and the statute must prevail over the decree.

So that in the end, we must fall back on the Mill Dam Act of 1803, for the state of the law.

Considering the decree as an abstract proposition, it can only be treated as a temporary disposition of the bill. It was far beyond the power of the Attorney General of the Court to confer or transfer a right or title in the subject matter. Nor could they make a valid contract in relation to the same. And particularly violative of an Act of Assembly. Apparently the decree was drawn to rhyme with the Mill Dam Act.

It should be noted that the decree is not a final decree. It is merely a temporary decree.

The dam has not yet been completed.

And the decree does not pretend to convey any "right." It merely says 'the right of the defendant, The McCall Ferry Power Company.' "

The latest Acts of the Legislature show conclusively that the consent of the Commonwealth, by Act of Legislature, is necessary to convey any rights to construct any dams in said river, as witness the Act of May 28, 1913, P. L. 359, which granted to the City of Harrisburg the right to construct and maintain a dam in the Susquehanna River for general improvement of the sanitary conditions of said city. A similar act was passed to authorize a like improvement for the city of Williamsport.

Gentlemen, it is with regret that I tired you with reading a brief, but there has been a great deal of misunderstanding and misapprehension in regard to the rights of the McCall's Ferry Power Company, or the Pennsylvania Water and Power Company, in the construction of a great dam across the river, belonging to the people of the Commonwealth. The Susquehanna Water and Power Company, and the Pennsylvania Water and Power Company and the constituent companies from which those companies were formed, have never come to the Pennsylvania Legislature and asked for any rights that would destroy navigation or that would interfere with the passage of fish up and down the Susquehanna River. Why? Because those companies knew perfectly well that the Susquehanna River belonged to the State of Pennsylvania and the State of Pennsylvania never would grant the valuable rights, or, as I might say, would never be willing to bestow to any private company the valueable rights of the people of the Commonwealth, relating to fish and navigation. So the Company without any legal right whatever, started to construct a great dam, and while they were in the course of construction of this dam, the Attorney General, under the Mill Dam Act, filed a petition for an injunction, and the company filed an answer. In the answer to the petition filed by the Attorney General they said to the Attorney General and to the Court as follows: "The construction of said dam will entail a very large expense, and the work in which we are now engaged is work which will be necessary to be done in any future plan of rendering the river navigable.

At the present time we have not provided for a lock or locks because the lack of other dams of like character, prevents, and until their construction will continue to prevent, any navigation.

The nature, character, and place of location of lock or locks cannot be determined at the present time. This will depend upon the nature of the future improvement of the river in the way of rendering the same navigable. The construction of such lock or locks at the present time would be absolutely useless for any purpose that could be accomplished, and might interfere in the future, if navigation be made continuous by a series of dams, with the construction of such lock or locks as will be found to be suitable and necessary under the exigencies of such future improvements to the river, by the erection of other dams and in other ways.

We deny, in view of the present non-navigable condition of the river, that the dam which we are constructing in any way obstructs or will obstruct or destroy navigation, and deny that it will in any way break up or interrupt any rights of the Susquehanna Canal and Power Company, or of the Tidewater and Susquehanna River Railroad Company, and deny that such dam will be built in such manner as to prevent the fish from passing up and down the stream, or as will back the water as far as Turkey Hill or submerge islands belonging to the state or obliterate the Indian Steps."

Now the Susquehanna Water and Power Company, in spite of their affidavit, in spite of their answer, have done all of the things they said they would not do. They never originally got any right or title to build this dam. When they were building it, the Attorney General said, "We will stop you, if you will in any way confiseate or deprive the people of the rights of the Susquehanna River." They said, "We will not do that." The result was that a decree was entered in the Dauphin County Court, setting forth that this company be permitted to construct under one provision, and that was that they do not interfere with the free passage of fish up and down the river, and that they would not interfere with the navigation in the Susquehanna River, if it ever beeame navigable. Whether the decree was entered or not, this deeree of the Dauphin County Court could not give away the rights of the people in public property, so therefore, this company had no more right to construct this great dam, which confiscated the rights of the people in their public property than I would have to erect a private house out here in front of the Capitol, upon the Capitol grounds. Now by reason of the building of this great dam, this company, in definance of law, has destroyed the entire shad industry in the Susquehanna River, and it is up to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,—for it is only the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that can cope with a great company worth millions of dollars, such as this company is at this time—and it is for this reason that I introdueed in 1913, in this Legislature, a resolution that the Fish Commissioner did not see fit to act upon, and now I introduce a resolution to correct any difficulties that have made themselves manifest since my original resolution, in order that our Commonwealth may be re-instated in its rights, and in order that every corporation, every company, as well as every individual, shall bow to the laws and the rights of the great soverign State of Pennsylvania.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1919.

The House met at 10.30 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou blessed Creator of all things visible and invisible, whose golden orb of light is flooding down upon the world the floodtide of sunshine, that is wooing from the earth a bountiful harvest, and giving unto us all the Creator's fruits that make life so pleasant for the man and woman who live in the land of the living, grant that Thou, who art also the Son of Righteousness, may shine down upon the hearts of men, and woo from us also a fruitful source of life, securing from us and giving unto us that power whereby we shall be able to do the things which are right and proper in Thy sight. And since nature sets unto us this beautiful example, grant that there may not be a barreness in us that we, who are at the very apex of Thy creation, may not fall below the rest of it in bringing unto Thee those things that Thou most rightly canst expect from us. Therefore, we beseech Thee, that Thou wilt clarify our vision, that Thou wilt strengthen us in body and mind, and that Thou wilt give unto use a high and holy sense of our duty and responsibility, and that Thou wilt instill in us all the thought that we must answer for the talents entrusted to us and render unto Thee that which is fitting and proper. Thou who art great Judge, whom we must all face at the last. Amen.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, whether his conception of this bill, if passed, is that council has no jurisdiction in the matter, except to accept the amount of money which is asked for by the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, if the bill passes the council will have no further jurisdiction as to the appropriation of moneys for the necessary expenses of the Commission, outside of what the Mayor asks to be appropriated. Not the Commission, it is the Mayor.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would ask the Senator whether or not, at the present time, when the Civil Service Commission asks for a certain amount of money, whether it is not within the jurisdiction of the council to cut down that sum.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, it is.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, would it not then be a loss on the part of the Council as to its jurisdiction for the Civil Service Commission, if this bill were passed, if they have absolutely no jurisdiction as to whether or not they shall appropriate more or less money than is requested by the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, by the Mayor, not by the Civil Service Commission. This is the department of the Mayor of the cities of the second class, it is his department. His requests go to the Appropriation Committee, and the requisitions are to be abided by.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, then, in other words, what the Senator means to tell me is this: that any amounts of money that are asked for by the Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh from council must be granted.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, by the Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh and the Mayor of the city of Scranton.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, very good, sir, I thank the Senator from Allegheny.

Shall the bill pass finally?

WM. C. SPROUL.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 414.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 8th, 1919.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 414, entitled, "An Act to amend section one of an act approved the twenty-sixth day of February one thousand nine hundred and three (Pamphlet Laws eight) entitled "An Act providing for the appointment of boards of visitation for institutions societies and associations caring for dependent neglected and delinquent children" as amended by providing that the Board of Visitors may visit institutions without the county to which residents of the county are committed."

I can see no reason for this bill. If the Court wishes to know anything about the welfare of such children in the institutions outside of the county, it can make special inquiry, but to send visitation boards all over the State to make inquiry would lead to a large expenditure of public money without any commensurate good to those in the institutions, or the people of the State. In these days when economy ought to be practiced, such a measure as this goes in the wrong direction.

For this reason this bill is not approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. NASON. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

VETO OF RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM GOVERNOR SENATE BILL NO. 463.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 7, 1919.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I am returning herewith without my approval a Resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives recalling from the Governor Senate Bill No. 463, for the purpose of amendment.

I withhold my approval from this Resolution for the reason that Senate Bill No. 463 had received Executive approval prior to the receipt of the said Resolution.

Accordingly the original Resolution is herewith returned.

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Shall the resolution pass the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 58.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 7, 1919.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I herewith return, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 58, entitled "An Act to fix salary of court criers, court interpreters, and tipstaves in judicial districts containing more than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and less than one million inhabitants, and repealing certain acts."

This bill raises the salary of court criers in judicial districts containing more than one hundred and fifty thousand, and less than one million, inhabitants from twelve hundred dollars to eighteen hundred dollars, the salary of tipstaves from one thousand dollars to one thousand and five hundred dollars, and in addition provides that court interpreters shall be paid a salary of twelve hundred dollars per annum.

There are nine counties in the Commonwealth affected by this bill according to the census of 1910. These counties are Berks, Fayette, Cambria, Lackawanna, Lancaster, Luzerne, Montgomery, Schuylkill and Westmoreland. In addition there are several other counties that will be affected by this bill, according to the present population of such counties, among which are Delaware, Dauphin and Washington. These counties range in population, according to the census of 1910, from 167,029 to 343,186, and under this bill court criers and tipstaves and court interpreters in counties of 150,000 population would receive the same compensation as court criers, tipstaves and interpreters in counties of 939,000 population, although the business of the courts in such counties would not be on a uniform basis.

Of the smaller of the nine counties of Pennsylvania affected by this bill, Lancaster County, perhaps, is a fair type and average in this respect, and Lancaster County court criers and tipstaves in common pleas and quarter sessions courts serve less than one hundred days per year, and sessions of the court never exceed seven hours per day, and a great many of the sessions are for current business only and do not exceed two hours per day. In the orphans' court the court criers and tipstaves give less than seventy days of service per year, and the average length of time per day in which they are actually in court is less than three hours.

Excepting the first deputy in each of the county offices, who is fitted by long training and practically manages the offices of register of wills, recorder of deeds, prothonotary and clerk of quarter sessions, no clerk in these offices receives so large a salary as the court crier and tipstaves would receive.

For instance, in the county of Berks, the clerks in the court house are paid $103.50 per month—not so much as tipstaves would receive under this bill—and the various deputies in the offices before mentioned range from $125.00 to $150.00 per month, so that the highest paid deputy in the office of the prothonotary or register of wills does not receive any more than would the court crier under this bill. In Lancaster County, mentioned before as a fair type and average, the five first deputies average $1,720.00 per annum, less than the salary of the court crier under this bill.

The time when the court criers and tipstaves are not required in service in court they do other work at other employments and can easily earn a half year's wages. Some of them are really unable to work at any time. Often they are Government pensioners.

Our information is that most of the county commissioners of the Commonwealth and the County Commissioners Association are opposed to this bill.

The matter of these salaries is one that should be determined entirely by the judges of the courts and the county commissioners in the various counties.

In addition to the foregoing, this bill imposes upon the counties in the judicial districts contemplated therein the burden of employing a court interpreter who shall be paid a salary of $1,200.00 per annum. These counties do not now have regular court interpreters, and it is necessary to employ them only in those counties that have a large foreign population in cases in which foreigners who are unable to speak and understand the English language are either defendants or witnesses. In some of the counties they are very seldom employed and the expense is very small. There is no reason why this additional burden should be imposed upon these counties that do not need a court interpreter.

For the foregoing reasons the bill is not approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.
